

Urban Studies Research BaseCamp: <http://libguides.princeton.edu/urbanstudies>
a great place to get grounded before kicking off your research topics

www.artstor.org

Truly interdisciplinary, ARTStor features over a million images from hundreds of collections that range from art museums, universities, research centers, and more. In addition to the fine arts, areas covered include American History, Medicine, Science, City Planning, Geography, and much more.

<http://memory.loc.gov/>

A spectacular resource developed by the Library of Congress and other institutions, American Memory provides free access to a wealth of digital content including sound recordings, film, photographs, maps and plans, prints, sheet music, and countless other media documenting the American Experience.

<http://archive.org/index.php>

From Barbie commercials in the 1970s to NASA images, Internet Archive provides free and open access to historical collections in digital format including text, audio, film, software, archives webpages (the "Wayback Machine"), and more. Be sure to check out the OpenLibrary and Prelinger Archive, an archive of over 60K ephemeral films.

<http://www.apimages.com>

(PU Access Only)

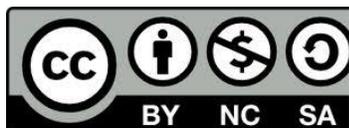

Princeton subscribes to AP Images for its coverage of the Associated Press' current year's photo report and 4.6 million+ images from their library dating from 1826. One can find thousands of news worthy, and oftentimes exclusive, shots captured for AP news articles. AP also includes graphics, a soundbank, and text archive. Be sure to check out the Historical Photos Archive.

New York Public Library

<http://digitalgallery.nypl.org/nypldigital/>

NYPL Digital Gallery provides free and open access to over 800,000 images digitized from the The New York Public Library's vast collections, including illuminated manuscripts, historical maps, vintage posters, rare prints, photographs and more. Be sure to check out the very amazing Cities & Buildings collections as well as Industry & Technology collections.

tumblr

gettyimages®

Digital Sanborn Maps 1867-1970

<http://sanborn.umi.com/>

PU Access Only

Sanborn fire insurance maps contain detailed information on urban structures, property boundaries, and streets. Provides historical information on the history, growth, and development of American cities, towns, and neighborhoods.

UNIVERSITY LIBRARIES
UNIVERSITY of WASHINGTON

Cities & Buildings Database

<http://content.lib.washington.edu/build>

This collection of digitized contains images ranging from New York to Central Asia, from African villages, to the Parc de la Villette, and conceptual sketches and models of Frank Gehry's Experience Music Project.

This is a search engine bringing together sites focusing on the conservation of cultural heritage, restoration and maintenance of the architecture, and preservation of the urban landscape.

<http://www.culturalheritage.net/>

The Gallery features over 800,000 items digitized from the Municipal Archives' vast holdings, including photographs, maps, motion-pictures and audio recordings spanning a 160-year period. Browsing the Collection by subject provides a useful overview of what is included.

NYC Municipal Archives

<http://nycma.lunaimaging.com/luna/servlet>

<http://www.worldviewcities.org>

Produced by the Architectural League of New York, the site includes profiles of firms, historical and statistical information, articles on critical issues, and photographs for each city in its collection. Specific cities include Beruit, Caracas, Dhaka, Tijuana, and Oslo.

