ECUMENOPOLIS: CITY WITHOUT LIMITS

2011. Turkey, Germany. directed by Imre Azem. 88 min.
Introduced by Molly Greene, Princeton University.

03/26

Istanbul wants to play in the big leagues. Last year it was the European City of Culture. It has its heart set on winning the 2020 Olympic bid. And the government wants it to be the financial center of the region. At fifteen million, its population is twice the size of London's, and looks set to double by 2030. Ecumenopolis speaks with experts, academics, writers, investors, city-dwellers, and community leaders as they grapple with the deep transformations taking place in the city.

Molly Greene is professor of history and Hellenic studies at Princeton University. She is the author of Catholic Pirates and Greek Merchants: A Maritime History of the Mediterranean (Princeton: 2013).
